IOWA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

VOL. III. 4

CEDAR FALLS, IOWA, JANUARY 1, 1920

No. 2

General. College Entrance. On account of the impossibility for the State Educational Institutions to maintain the past high school inspection system for accrediting such schools for college entrance on a legal basis, it has been decided to admit any four-year high school graduate on an experimental basis at the State University, the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts and the State Teachers College without any other investigation than the complete statement of his high school credits properly voucht for by the principal of the high school from which said student graduated. It is understood that he can pursue such studies in the college entered as his preparation enables him to do. His remaining a student and the length of time he must be enrolled at the college to graduate from a course, will depend upon the capability shown and the progress made by the student. This new method accredits individual students rather than individual schools, and abandons a method of long standing.

The Student Teacher Controversy.

Certain citizens in Cedar Falls protested the action of the School Board in permitting the students of the senior class to do training work in the city schools. The school board decided that the plan was good and that the work being done was superior, and declined to agree with the view of the protesting citizens. The citizens applied to the District Court for an injunction against the board. The District Judge, H. B. Boles, granted the injunction after hearing the case. The school board appealed to the Iowa Supreme Court. September 26, 1919, the Supreme Court reversed the District Court and decided that the acts of the school board were within the law and subject to their own discretion. This places the expenses upon the citizens, who were positively certain that their contention was legal and justified. It is estimated that this lawsuit cost the sum of $3,500.00, and leaves the whole question to be fought out from year to year at the polls.

Official Recognition. The Boston "Journal of Education" printed an editorial from the pen of Dr. A. E. Winship, October 23, 1919, under the title "Iowa's Unique Demonstration," commending the work of the touring committee conducted by P. E. McClenahan, Supt. of Public Instruction, in various counties in different parts of the state.

Irene Beatty, Industrial Secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, visited Cedar Falls and addressed the College Association, Wednesday, November 19, 1919, giving a detailed and inspiring account of the work of the Association among industrial workers.

Lella E. Partridge, of the Kentucky State Normal School at Richmond, Kentucky, representing the faculty of that institution, visited and inspected the Teachers College, September 29 and 30, and October 1, 1919.

Iowa State Teachers Association.

This annual meeting occurred at Des Moines, Iowa, November 6, 7 and 8. It was presided over by Forest C. Ensign, 1894, 1895, of Iowa City. On its committees were many members of the Alumni and a good representation of the Faculty. The President's address was in the spirit of the time and advocated an intelligent democracy for the United States. President Seerley gave addresses on "The American Teacher in Politics," "The Perils of Supervision," "The School and the World Outside," and "The Place and Limits of Community Civics." He also presented the Report of the Necrology Committee. Professor D. S. Wright made a report on Bible Study in Secondary Schools before the Educational Council. Nola K. Fromme delivered an address on "The Hot School Lunch." E. J. Cable gave a paper on "The Place of Geography in the High School." C. A. Fullerton conducted the Community Singing and presented a discussion on "Every Day Problems of Music Supervisors." Ira S. Condit was president of the Iowa Section of the Mathematical Association of America. Charles H. Meyerholz gave an address before the College and University Department on "The State and the Elementary School," and being president of the Iowa Society of Social Science, gave the official address for the year. J. H. Boatman was president of the Consolidated School Conference. Macy Campbell made a report before the Educational Council on "The Problem of the Small Town School," and gave an address on "A Definite Program for Better Schools." The meeting was a very fine one, over five thousand members reporting for enrollment.

Des Moines Alumni. During the State Teachers' Association, the Des Moines Alumni and former students of the Teachers College gave a banquet which was attended by about two hundred fifty graduates and friends. Dr. Erwin Schenk was toastmaster and Celia Grace Troutner was manager of the banquet. C. A. Fullerton conducted the singing, Charles H. Meyerholz spoke on the Memorial planned by the Alumni Association, President Seerley made a report on "The Progress and Prospects of the Institution," Supt. Z. C. Thornburg spoke on "The Great Opportunity," and Hon. P. E. McClenahan told about "The Great Program Planned for the Iowa Schools." Dr. Schenk presided at the program and it was admirably carried out. The presence of Mrs. J. C. Gilchrist, the widow of the first president, of Former-Professor S. Laura Ensign and of Professor D. S. Wright added much to the occasion for the graduates of the earlier years. The officers for the coming year are: Dr. Erwin Schenk, 1896, President; J. W. Atchley, 1900, 1901, First Vice-President; Celia Grace Troutner, 1898, Second Vice-President; Miss Peak, Secretary, and Ida M. Gower, 1901, Treasurer.

The 1919 Oratorical Declamatory Contest occurred November 12, 1919, with seven contestants for the honors conferred. The contest was a superior one in every way and showed fine interest and training. The prizes were distributed as follows: First, Frederick W. Kaltenbach, of Waterloo; Second, Susan Eakers, of Cedar Falls; Third, Anna D. Cordts, of Boone. The judges were Mrs. Emery E. Magee, Miss Esther Hurwich and Mr. F. W. Edwards.

Consolidated School Conference.

Inspector George S. Dick, of the Department of Public Instruction, and Rural Expert J. L. McBrien, of the Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., have charge of the organization and conducting of the National Conference on Consolidated Schools to be held at Cedar Falls, February 17, 18 and 19, 1920. This substitutes for the State Conference held annually at Cedar Falls as a part of the work of the State Teachers College. The program will be planned to get distinguished and efficient talent of this special quality for developing consolidation as a conclusion to rural organization of schools.

The Normal Training High School Conference occurred at Cedar Falls, September 30, October 1, 1919. Its deliberations were presided over by Inspector M. K. Fayram. 1899, 1904, of the Department of Public Instruction. Addresses were given by President Seerley, Inspector May Francis, Supt. W. O. Weaver, Prof. C. A. Fullerton, State Supt. F. E. McClenahan, Governor W. L. Harding, Inspector B. E. Lewis of Kansas, and Mrs. Marie Turner Harvey of Missouri, during the first day. The Governor addressed the faculty and students at a special two o'clock assembly, being introduced by Hon. F. E. McClenahan. On the second day the speakers were Director W. H. Bender of Iowa Vocational Board and Mrs. Harvey of Missouri. The Conference was well organized, admirably conducted by the Department of Public Instruction and much appreciated by those in attendance.

Bishop L. H. Seager, of the Evangelical Association, while attending the Quadrennial General Conference of that church at Cedar Falls, gave a highly appreciated address before the faculty and students on "The Great Challenge of Today," at a special assembly held at eleven o'clock a. m. October 7, 1919.

Platinum Stolen. Early in the Fall Term some thief entered the Chemical Laboratory, broke open the drawer of the desk where the platinum equipment was kept, and stole about $1200.00 worth of that metal at present day prices. A reward of $200.00 has been offered for the recovery of the equipment and for the arrest and the conviction of the criminal.

Bartlett Hall Dining Room. After some months of delay, following the completion of the last section of Bartlett Hall, Mrs. Louise M. Traer, the manager of the Cafeteria, has been authorized to open the Dining Hall that was constructed west of the Cafeteria. This new plan provides for one hundred twenty students where board is by the week and regular service is maintained on a standard menu. This new arrangement was added especially for residents of Bartlett Hall, but after these students who apply are enrolled, other persons will be accommodated.

Model Home. At the opening of the Winter term of 1919, the Model Home for the practical training of home economics graduates was opened. The young women are assigned this training in groups of five or six, and perform for a month, under the supervision of the department, all the various duties that are necessary in good home management. This Model Home is located in the frame building south of the Men's Gymnasium, and is equipt in modern style and with all modern facilities.

O. H. Benson, a former student of the Teachers College and more recently in charge of the States Relations Department of the United States Department of Agriculture, more generally known as the National Promoter of Boys' and Girls' Clubs, has resigned his work with the United States Government to accept the "Directorship of the Boys' and Girls' Achievement Bureau" of the Ten North Atlantic States, at a salary of $10,000 a year for five years, being employed by the "Eastern States Agricultural and Industrial League," with plenty of money to adequately support the service and to pay for experts of his own choosing to assist him. His office will be at Springfield, Massachusetts, and his opportunity is of the greatest promise and privilege. When he went to work in Washington, D. C., he left the county superintendency of Wright County, Iowa, in which office he had attracted the attention of the country by his re-directing the interests and the aims of rural education. What he began so independently and so inadequately in Iowa is now to be effectively applied, with the hearty support of capitalists and business men as well as the states and the nation, in conservative New England and the Middle States. It is gratifying to see an Iowa man attain such distinct and popular leadership in this great work of which he was largely the discoverer and the inventor.

Thanksgiving Concert. Sunday, November 23, 1919, the members of the Musical faculties gave a Thanksgiving Service at 4:30 p. m., a large audience being present. Professors John Ross Frampton, Anna Gertrude Childs, Elizabeth Burney, Olive Barker, Lowell E. M. Welles, John L. Conrad, Theodore R. Gundry and Elizabeth Platner all had a part in this service and every number was of the highest quality. Professor D. Sands Wright offered the prayer and Professor Leonore Shanewise gave the reading. This annual program is one of the most highly appreciated of the year.

Vacation. The Winter Vacation for this year occurred December 5 to December 30, instead of the regular calendar time, December 23 to January 7. This change was made on account of the coal shortage, due to the strike of the miners preventing any adequate supply being obtained during that part of December.

Hon. W. R. Boyd, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Iowa State Board of Education, gave an address before the Faculty Club, November 10, 1919, on "What is the Matter in America?" The address has been printed for more general circulation, as its subject matter was particularly sane and its sentiment much needed under present situations in society and government. A second edition became necessary to meet the demand of the public.

Faculty. Macy Campbell, Head of the Department of Rural Education, in the service of the Extension Division during the Fall Term on the problems of consolidation, will be connected with the Extension service during the Winter Quarter for the purpose of assisting in consultative work.

Charles A. Frederick, 1893, formerly assistant in physics at Cedar Falls, and Mrs. Frederick (Ida M. Shaw, 1890, 1891) now at Brawley, California, are enjoying both health and prosperity in the mild climate of that section of the Pacific slope. They have a fine ranch in the great Imperial Valley.

Dr. O. M. Dickerson, Head of the Department of History at Winona State Normal School in Minnesota, former professor of military science and tactics at the Teachers College in the Spring of 1919, has been elected President of the State Normal School at Moorhead, Minnesota. He will assume office March 1, 1920.

Anna Gertrude Childs, Professor of Voice, and Nola K. Fromme, Head of Home Economics, spent the Holiday vacation in Southern California with relatives and friends.

Ida Fesenbeck, Secretary of the Bureau of Appointments, Registrar's Office, has been given part time for consultative service under the direction of the Extension Division during the Winter Term.

Effie Schuneman, Professor of Art, has been granted a leave of absence for the Winter Term, her substitute being Miss Edna O'Bryan of Warrensburg, Missouri.

Rachel Ogle, assistant cataloger of the Library staff, has resigned in order to accept a position in the Washington University Library at St. Louis, Missouri. Her resignation took effect December 23, 1919.

Anna R. Wild, Executive Secretary in the College Office, has taken a three months' leave of absence and will spend the winter in California.

Anne Stuart Duncan, College Librarian, was elected first vice-president at the meeting of the State Library Society held at Waterloo early in the month of October.

J. O. Perrine, Professor of Physics, was elected to the office of Commander, American Legion Post No. 237, at Cedar Falls, Monday, October 13, 1919. The post began with twenty-four charter members, but it is expected that a membership of two hundred fifty will be enroll when the campaign is completed.

Dr. W. W. Gist, Professor of English, was elected Colonel of the Black Hawk County Civil War Veterans' Association at the annual meeting of that body at Waterloo on the 9th of November. This is the headship of that organization of old soldiers. The literary program of the meeting had an address by Hon. Roger Leavitt, Treasurer of the Teachers College, and a reading by Professor John Barnes, of the English Department, on "He Knew Lincoln."

Craig Fullerton, born at Cedar Falls, Iowa, 11:56 p. m., October 31, 1919, weight ten pounds and ten ounces, to Professor and Mrs. C. A. Fullerton.

Homer H. Seerley, President, was elected to the presidency of the College and University Department of the State Teachers' Association at Des Moines, November 7, 1919. This is the first time that this educational body has recognized any member of the faculty of the Teachers College. For many years the Association classified the College with the secondary schools, but of recent years its staff have been members of the higher education department.

Geo. H. Mount, Professor of Education, was the College delegate to the Detroit National Y. M. C. A. Convention this year, being designated by the student and advisory boards for such service.

Charles H. Bailey, Head of the Department of Manual Arts, attended the National Manual Arts Association meeting at Cincinnati, Ohio, the first week in December.

Emmet J. Cable, Head of the Department of Natural Science, went to St. Louis during the last week in December to attend the annual meeting of the National Geographers.

Allison E. Aitchison, special consulting member of the Extension Division as to geographical teaching, attended the National Geographers meeting at St. Louis, Missouri, the last week in December.

John Ross Frampton, Professor of Piano and Organ, plans to attend the National Music Teachers' Convention at Philadelphia, the last week in December, 1919.

Frank Ivan Merchant, Professor of Latin and Greek, gave a chapel talk, October 22, 1919, on the topic, "Americanism," that was so well prepared and so meritorious as to sentiment and context that it was printed as a leaflet and distributed to the students and others interested. It set up high standards for an American and insisted upon such obedience to the principles of American life and ideals that in heart and in soul a citizen is a part of the nation.

Irving H. Hart, Director of Extension, was a delegate to the International Y. M. C. A. Convention at Detroit, representing the College Army Y. M. C. A. members of the faculty at this great religious conference held at Detroit, Michigan, November 19-22, 1919.

Laura S. Seals, formerly of the Mathematics Department, now professor of mathematics in the University of Porto Rico, is the author of a new Intermediate Arithmetic consisting of 278 pages, published by Silver, Burdett and Company, Boston, Mass. It is especially prepared for the Porto Rico schools, the language of the problems being adapted to that country and the needs of pupils of the fifth and sixth grades.

Charles H. Meverholz, Head of Government and Economics, was appointed a member of the Committee on American Citizenship to assist the Superintendent of Public Instruction to prepare an outline of instruction for the public schools of the state in compliance with a law passed by the last General Assembly. Dr. Meverholz will represent the College at the meeting of the American Association for Labor Legislation at Chicago, December 29-31, 1919.

R. W. Getchell, of the Chemistry Faculty, now on leave of absence in Wisconsin University as a graduate student, has passed his conference examination for Doctor of Philosophy degree and will therefore expect to complete his residence work this year. Following his residence work, he has to write a special thesis on an assigned problem before the degree will be granted.

Major R. F. Seymour, formerly Head of the Physical Education Department, and recently in Germany in charge of the Russian Prisons near Dantzic for the United States Army and the Allies, gave a much appreciated lecture the afternoon of December 1, at 3:30 o'clock on "In Germany and Beyond." He came to Cedar Falls to dispose of his furniture and close up his business at Cedar Falls, his family being still at Syracuse, New York.

Men's Club. The men of the Faculty have organized a special club for the purposes of study, recreation and personal development. Its program is to entertain distinguished persons who visit the institution, to invite specialists to present papers, to study the service of the College more in detail and to seek the better acquaintance of the group in every way possible. College work develops specialization and isolation of teachers and limits opportunity for genuine fellowship. The club hopes to help the members to more fully appreciate the variety of tasks that are being conducted. By having a men's club, many social and difficult problems in science and in life can be more freely discussed and studied than in a mixed club.

Alumni Notes. Mary A. Faint, 1906, accepted the work as Secretary of the Extension Division of the Iowa State Teachers College, beginning

Mary M. Kegley, 1916, formerly of Des Moines, Iowa, was married to Arthur Livingston Hawkins, November 3, 1918, and now lives at 736 South Los Rubles Avenue, Pasadena, California.

Leslie A. I. Chapman, 1892, 1893, Colonel in the United States Army, is now located at Ft. Riley, Kansas, conducting a cavalry school for the War Department. Colonel Chapman is a distinguished teacher of men and naturally is selected for these important posts. He demonstrated this when he was a senior student at Teachers College by taking charge of Professor A. C. Page's class work when Professor Page was seriously ill. The work was done so well in the science classes that he was highly commended for his unusual services.

Romanzo C. Adams, 1891, 1892, Professor of Economics, University of Nevada, has been granted a leave of absence from his work in order to accept one and one-half years' service in the College at Hawaii, Honolulu, T. H., as professor of economics and sociology. He will receive a salary of $3,600 a year for this new appointment. The cold winters, the high altitude and the dry electrically charged atmosphere at Reno, Nevada, have caused him to consider the temporary change as very desirable for him.

O. B. Chassell, 1885, 1888, is at Wilbraham, Mass., as Director of a Campaign to raise $250,000 endowment for Wilbraham Academy, an institution entering its second century. It was the first educational institution organized in America under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He will probably remain there until July 1, 1920, the date when the campaign is to close, ending November 10, 1919.

Ethel L. Arey, 1893, 1895, former assistant librarian at the Teachers College, visited in Cedar Falls the last of October. She is now in the service of the United States War Department at Omaha, Nebraska, holding an appointment as Clerk in the Subsistence Branch of the Quartermaster's Corps, with office in U. S. Army Building at corner of 15th and Dodge Streets.

Mollie Fell, 1911, is district home demonstration agent at Helena, Montana, but still considers her permanent address as Charles City, Iowa.

Mrs. Linnie Downs-Savage, 1897, formerly a teacher of domestic art, Des Moines, Iowa, is having a very prominent success in a similar field of work in Pomona, California.

BENJAMIN BOARDMAN,
Notary.

Kenneth W. Colegrove, 1905, is associat professor of international law at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois. Since leaving Cedar Falls, he graduated at the State University of Iowa, B. A. 1909, M. A. 1910, and at Harvard in 1915 as Doctor of Philosophy. He has held prominent professional positions at Mt. Holyoke College and at Syracuse University before coming to Northwestern.

Mabelle Agnes Payton, 1904, graduated from the University of Chicago in 1915 and is a teacher of English in the New Traer Township High School at Kenilworth, Illinois, at a salary of $2000.00. Her address is 1058 Linden Avenue, Wilmette, Illinois.

A. C. Joy, 1903, of Ashland, Oregon, turnd down a $3,000-a-year job with the U. S. Department of Agriculture last week. Thru State Leader Paul J. Mavis, of the Oregon Agricultural College, Mr. Joy was offered the position of county agent for Coos County, but it didn't tempt him to give up his ranch and his business there. As president of the Jackson county farm bureau and shipper of fruits, berries and vegetables "The Joy Way," Mr. Joy has become widely known as one of the most capabl and progressiv men of southern Oregon, and it is gratifying to know that even a government job with a good salary attacht offers no temptation to him to leav the valley.

Grace E. Potwin, 1894, Independence, Iowa, was Secretary of Christian Endeavor Work at the fifty-third annual meeting of the Iowa Branch of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Congregational Church, held at Marshalltown, Iowa, October 22-23, 1919.

Lydia A. Trimble, 1888, president and founder of Foo Chow College for Women, in Foo Chow, China, is spending this year in Sioux City, Iowa.

Harriet A. Cunningham, 1894, General Secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association at St. Paul, Minnesota, is now to be addressd at 123-133 West Fifth Street. She was formerly associated with a similar work at Minneapolis, and this notis of change should have appeard earlier. Miss Cunningham is a distingisht worker in Association lines.

Paul F. Voelker, 1901, now a student at Teachers College, Columbia University, expects to receive his Doctor's degree next June. His address is 509 West 121st Street, New York.

Robert I. Dick, 1910, has been employd by the Hart-Parr Company at Charles City, Iowa, as engineer, a new kind of technical servis in large manufacturing plants where problems of practical engineering have prominent value. His training in the great war in the tank corps, and his long-time employment in manufacturing, have preparad him for determining efficiency in all mechanical operations.

Eagle Grove Items. Miss Anna Gertrude Childs, professor of voice, visited Eagle Grove, Iowa, in October. She leard that Margaret Bowes, a former music student, was for some years a music teacher at the Government Indian School at Lawrence, Kansas. Her hearing becoming impaird, she accepted a clerical position in the Iowa National Bank at Des Moines, Iowa. Paul D. Cowan, 1910, followd chautauqua work in music for some time after graduation, met Miss Margaret Kreigh, who was also a singer in the same servis, invited her to become Mrs. Cowan, and together they have developd a fine stock business that is very successful and prosperous. Two children are in their home. Ollie Cowan, sister of Paul, and a former student, is a piano teacher at Eagle Grove. Ruby De Forest, a former student, graduated at the State University and married Harvey Paine of Eagle Grove, a graduate of the State College. Mr. Paine is an automobile dealer and Mrs. Paine has been teaching in the Eagle Grove High School for the past year.

Jacob Johnson, 1905, 1907, Denison, Iowa, after completing his military servis returnd to Crawford County and accepted the offis of Deputy Sheriff. He has taken charge of the education of an orphan boy from Akron, Ohio, and is looking after his development and welfare at his own expense.

Ida M. Wilson, 1900, Servis Supervisor for the Warner Mills, Newburyport, Massachusetts, attended the National Council of Safety at Cleveland, held in the late summer.

John A. Wilson, 1896, has a prominent and successful real estate business at Spokane, Washington.

Mary J. Wilson-Fitzgerald, 1893, and her husband, James E. Fitzgerald, 1894, 1895, A. B. Morningside College 1907, were visitors in Cedar Falls this last summer. They have been in Sioux City for many years, Mr. Fitzgerald being an efficient principal of one of the important ward schools. Their son, James, was in the United States Army during the late war.

Alumni Speakers and Officers. The following Alumni were listed as officers and speakers at the annual meeting of the Iowa State Teachers' Association, which occurd at Des Moines, Iowa, November 6, 7 and 8:

Fred Danford Cram, 1908, 1909, County Superintendent of Cerro Gordo County, Mason City, Iowa, was elected President of the Iowa State Teachers' Association for the coming year. He is one of the youngest educators ever cald to that important post of official authority. Supt. Cram has edited and publishd for the use of the teachers under his supervision a "Course of Study and Hand Book of Information," that is one of the fullest and best ever preparad for this purpose.

P. E. McClenahan, 1898, 1899, Superintendent of Public Instruction for Iowa, gave his annual address on the subject, "The Public School as the Chief Factor in Americanization."

George S. Dick, 1887, 1888, Inspector of Consolidated Schools in the Department of Public Instruction, had many prominent parts. He spoke before the Consolidated School Round Table on "The Outlook for Consolidation in Iowa," and had a constant conference with interested educators on official problems during the entire session.

W. H. Bender, 1886, 1890, as chairman of the Educational Council Committee on Vocational Education, filed a report that receivd markt approval and attention. He also gave an address on the subject, "The Nature and Importance of Applied Farm Work in Vocational Agricultural Education," at the Agricultural Round Table; a symposium on "Vocational Education in Secondary and Continuation Schools," before the College and University Department; and an address on "Vocational Agriculture in the Consolidated School," at the Consolidated Schools Round Table.

May E. Francis, 1907, 1910, Inspector of Rural and Graded Schools in the Department of Public Instruction, spoke on the subject of "Standardization" before the County Superintendents Section.

M. R. Fayram, 1899, 1904, Inspector of Normal Training High Schools in the Department of Public Instruction, spoke on the subject, "Advancing High School Credits for Certificate Credits," before the Normal Training in High Schools Section.

Forest C. Ensign, 1894, 1895, Professor of Education at the State University, was president of the Iowa State Teachers' Association. He gave a constructive official address of much merit and conducted the convention in a successful and efficient manner.

Harry E. Blackmar, 1893, 1894, Superintendent of Schools, Ottumwa, Iowa, was appointed second member of the Executive Committee.

A. L. Heminger, 1898, spoke on the subject, "The New Laws," at the meeting of the County Superintendents.

Dr. R. H. Sylvester, 1904, Director of Des Moines Health Center, on leave of absence from the State University of Iowa, gave an address on "The Ungraded Problem," before the Round Table on Atypical Children.

Don T. Deal, 1913, of Ft. Dodge, Iowa, gave an address on the subject, "Teaching Wounded Soldiers How to Make a Living by Office Work," before the Commercial Section.

E. E. Watson, 1900, 1901, a member of the faculty of Parsons College, Fairfield, Iowa, was president of the Iowa Section Mathematical Association of America and gave an address on "A Study of the Foundations of a Course in Freshman Mathematics."

Lewis H. Minkel, 1894, 1895, Superintendent of Schools at Ft. Dodge, Iowa, gave an address before the Music Round Table on "The Supervisor in Relation to the School and Community."

Allan Peterson, 1903, was elected President of the Iowa Association of Science Teachers. He is head of the department of physics, East Des Moines High School.

Martha Hutchinson, 1899, was secretary of the Iowa Society of Social Science Teachers, and delivered an address on "The Problem and Project Methods of Teaching Applied to Social Sciences."

Lillian L. Crosley, 1884, 1889, of Webster City, Iowa, was secretary of the Bible Study Round Table.

Maude Humphrey-Palmer, 1892, 1894, of Marshalltown, Iowa, was secretary of the Parent-Teachers' Association.

Ministerial Appointments. The Upper Iowa Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church announces the following appointments of Teachers College Alumni: Edwin G. Copeland, 1894, 1895, to be pastor at New Hampton, Iowa; Lurton D. Stubbs, 1891, to be pastor at Delhi, Iowa; Olin B. Chassell, 1885, 1888, to be secretary of the Centenary Fund, with location at Mt. Vernon, Iowa; and Earl A. Roadman, 1904, to be professor of rural church work at Upper Iowa University, Fayette, Iowa.

Mary E. Oaster, 1913, 448 Van Houten Street, Patterson, New Jersey, enrolled in a special unit for instruction of blind soldiers October 1918; sailed from New York Nov. 27, 1918; arrived at Paris, December 12, 1918; served in Base Hospital No. 8 and later No. 69 at Savenay, France; taught the blind men from December 25, 1918, to March 3, 1919—twenty-seven different soldiers; engaged in occupational-reconstruction-aide work at Base Hospital No. 57, Paris, France, March 10, 1919, to July 26, 1919, having four hundred different men under instruction; landed at Hoboken New Jersey, August 10, 1919.

Harold H. Maynard, 1515 Hayes Street, Nashville, Tennessee, of the classes of 1909, 1912, is now a member of the faculty of Vanderbilt University, being in charge of Business Courses. He spent the summer in community chautauqua work in Illinois and Michigan after being discharged from the army June 5.
